If these walls could talk, the stories they'd tell...Vaudeville acts, silent films accompanied by the theatre's magnificent pipe organ, twenty-five cent matinee admissions, and just fifty cents for the evening shows. Numerous famous actors have graced this historic stage, as well as the region's very own talented singers, dancers, and actors...your family members and friends. And do you remember when the very existence of the Palace was endangered? Caring residents of this region banded together to lend a hand in fundraising and a little elbow grease in getting the Theatre back on its feet? Yes, the Marion Palace Theatre is rich in history.

But what about the history we're writing today? In the decades to come, the generations that follow us will look back, and what will we have written for them to read on the pages of the Marion Palace Theatre's history?

Will you take a leading role? Will you be among our partners in the arts that join hands and dig deep to establish a secure future for Marion's unique, atmospheric theatre? It takes all of us working together, giving what we can to establish the Marion Palace Theatre in the history books for generations to come. Thank you for taking up the cause and helping us write the stories tomorrow's pages will record.
